MB-FJ Fire Phone Wall Jack

The MB-FJ is a fireman's phone jack station to be located at strategic places in a building for two-way communication to the master station. In operation, a fireman plugs in a MB-FH handset, which rings in at the master station. The operator can then pick up the master handset, select the switch, and talk with the fireman at the remote station. Construction is simply a single-gang stainless steel plate with a 1/4" phone jack, intended to be mounted to a standard single-gang electrical box.
